

Technology-Facilitated Stalking and Other Cyber Crimes: An Appropriate Law Enforcement and Community Response

Presented by: The Stalking Prevention, Awareness, & Resource Center (SPARC)

Stalkers are creative criminals who use – and misuse – a variety of technologies to surveil, monitor, intimidate, and harm their victims. This session will address common technologies utilized by stalkers, discuss evidence preservation concerns, and identify effective safety-planning strategies.

Objectives

By the end of this presentation, participants will be better able to:

- Identify common technologies misused by perpetrators
 - Identify strategies to document stalking and preserve technological evidence
 - Apply strategies for working with victims of technology-facilitated stalking

Technology-Facilitated Stalking and Other Cyber Crimes An Appropriate Law Enforcement and Community Response

Presented by: The Stalking Prevention, Awareness, & Resource Center (SPARC)

Jennifer Landhuis, M.S. brings nearly 30 years of experience as an educator and advocate on the issues of stalking, domestic violence, and sexual assault to her current position as the Director of the Stalking Prevention, Awareness, and Resource Center (SPARC) and the National Resource Center on Cybercrimes (NRCC). As Director, she oversees the development and implementation of multi-faceted resources, programs, and publications on stalking and tech-facilitated abuse, collaborates with national partners, and provides robust trainings to criminal justice and victim service professionals. Jennifer has led the SPARC initiative since its founding at AEquitas in 2018 and the NRCC since its founding in 2024. Prior to joining SPARC, Jennifer was the Director of Social Change at the Idaho Coalition Against Sexual & Domestic Violence. In this capacity, she managed a variety of projects — including the Idaho Coordinated Response to Sexual & Domestic Violence and the Idaho Victims Assistance Academy – and designed and facilitated state and national trainings to build the capacity of criminal justice systems. Earlier in her career, Jennifer spent 11 years as an advocate and educator for local domestic violence/sexual assault community-based crisis centers. Her direct service experience includes providing crisis intervention and 24-hour enhanced on-scene advocacy for hospitals and law enforcement agencies. Jennifer graduated from Midland University with a Bachelors of Arts in Youth and Family Ministry and the University of Cincinnati with a Masters of Science degree in Criminal Justice. She is an adjunct professor at Boise State University. Jennifer is based in Boise, Idaho.

Denise Jones serves as the Sergeant for the Clark County Sheriff's Office. Sgt. Jones has been in law enforcement for over 25 years and has continued her education throughout her tenure at the Clark County Sheriff's Office. Sgt. Jones has served the Intimate Partner Crime Unit since 2017. She works primarily with intimate partner crime such as stalking, domestic violence, strangulation, and protection order violations along with conducting internal investigations, training, and orientation. Sgt. Jones has facilitated round tables for the Department of Justice Office of Violence Against Women on nationwide promising practices surrounding gender-based violence crimes.
